

Little Italy Restaurants

To keep you from being completely overwhelmed, we've compiled a list of restaurants in Little Italy that are genuinely delicious.

Dec 2019

G Digital Escape
jauntful.com/gordon

©OpenStreetMap contributors, ©Mapbox, ©Foursquare

Aunt Jake's

Italian

Fresh pastas made in-house daily are paired with myriad sauces, from lamb ragu to carbonara, offered as solo or family-style portions.

149 Mulberry St
(646) 858-0470 auntjakesnyc.com

The Butcher's Daughter

Vegetarian / Vegan

This vegetarian restaurant makes great cauliflower pizzas and is a solid breakfast/brunch spot.

19 Kenmare St, New York
(212) 219-3434 thebutchersdaughter.com

Ferrara Bakery

Bakery

This iconic shop that's been around since 1892 makes sweet and flaky Italian pastries daily, and some of the best cannolis in Little Italy.

195 Grand St, New York
(212) 226-6150 ferraracafe.com

Parisi Bakery Delicatessen

Sandwiches

This long-standing Little Italy bakery has been peddling crusty loaves to New York restaurant clients and consumers since 1903.

198 Mott St
(212) 226-6378 parisibakery.com

Emporio

Italian

A pizza is a must-order item when you visit Emporio.

231 Mott St, New York
(212) 966-1234 emporiony.com

Da Nico Ristorante

Italian

If you're looking for delicious pizza, Da Nico is where to go. You can make your own or choose from one of their classics.

164 Mulberry St
(212) 343-1212 danicorest.com

Baz Bagel and Restaurant

Bagels

Hand-rolled bagels, smoked fish & other Jewish comfort fare in a cheery space with retro touches.

181 Grand St, New York
(212) 335-0609 bazbagel.com

Di Palo Fine Foods

Gourmet

This grocery store doubles as a sandwich shop that makes a hearty Italian sandwich.

200 Grand St
(212) 226-1033 dipaloselects.com

Lombardi's Coal Oven Pizza

Pizza

The coal oven pizzas from Lombardi's are famous, and the spot is often called NYC's first pizzeria.

32 Spring St, New York
(212) 941-7994 firstpizza.com

Seamore's

Seafood

It's all about the seafood at Seamore's. From the lobster mac to the scallop crudo, everything here is worth trying.

390 Broome St, New York
(212) 730-6005 seamores.com